Getty Images Since the news that Anne Hathaway and husband Adam Shulman were expecting their first baby to be broken, several photos of the actress (and her child growing cuckoo) have been published. But after noticing she was being followed and photographed by paparazzi while on vacation on the beach, the actress chose to take things into her own hands and post the following Instagram photo wearing a bikini with a full belly on the screen in response: This content is imported from Instagram. You may be able to find the same content in a different format or find more information on their website. So posting a little bikini is a bit of character for me, but right now, while I was at the beach I noticed I was photographed, her legend reads. I thought that if this kind of photography will be in the world it should at least be a picture that makes me happy. The result: a lovely little bikini on the beach - with her favorite filter, of course. Shortly afterwards, Hathaway's fans flooded her feed with kind words and good wishes for her family growing up with Shulman. What a way to start 2016! Luckily for fans, it looks like Jessa will document her trip on social media just like her 19-year-old sister. In the Instagram photo, she stands in front of a mirror in a T-shirt suitable for a baby bump selfie. She also superimposed text on the image showing how far along it is: 16 weeks and a day. (Unlike her sister, she waited until the first trimester wrapped up to share the big news.) Whether or not you follow Duggars, or caring about celebrity pregnancies in general, you might still find a special swarm or joy in following along through a social media feed-like Jill or Jessa's-like mom expecting documents of raising her sweet baby cuckoo, along with other details: how far along she is, how big she gets What foods she craves, if she goes for a babymoon-and can even compare the size of her baby on board to a particular fruit (one of the many trends of social media sharing pregnancy!) Social media allows us to share these most intimate and special moments in mothers-to-be lives - whether or not they are stars on reality shows. In a way, I think it's an opportunity for us mothers to feel more connected. (And even for future mothers to learn a little something process before going through it themselves!) Related: Free! Our pregnancy newsletters keep up with the latest pregnancy news. Photo: Oscar-winning actress Anne Hathaway, Instagram/JessaSeewald, has emanated her baby in recent months, pending her second child. Already a 3-year-old mother Jonathan with husband Adam Shulman, Hathaway was recently spotted with her son and husband, who was holding on to a child transporter. Anne Hathaway | ANGELA WEISS/AFP via Getty Images Insta announcement Over the summer, Hathaway took to social media to announce her happy news with a bit of her belly growing. It's not for a movie... #2, she subtitled the post. The actress made a point of giving a cry of support to those struggling to conceive. Joking aside, for everyone going through infertility and conception hell, please know that there was a straight line to any of my pregnancies. I'm sending you extra love, she wrote. Hathaway, who currently stars in the Amazon Prime Modern Love series, was forced to miss the premiere of her latest film Dark Waters, telling fans: It's for a big reason, according to the Daily Mail. The Oscar winner also recently celebrated her 37th birthday in November and shared her joy again on Instagram. Feeling so much love this anniversary week!, she wrote. I want to thank everyone for flowers and books and chocolates and cards and crystals and other incredible goodies and most importantly I want to thank God for giving me a good day of hair. It was so, so appreciated #37. So relatable After giving birth to her first child in 2016, Hathaway spoke out against the pressure on women to instantly decrease their post-child weight. She brought up an incident in an interview with Ellen DeGeneres where a man at her gym commented that she must be trying to lose baby weight. According to CNN, Hathaway told DeGeneres that he replied: No, it's a little too early to worry about weight. I'm just trying to get my strength back. He said, great and left and I cried a little. Hathaway also expressed her opinion on the subject via Instagram, months after giving birth to her son, Jonathan. I love what you were given. she wrote alongside a photo of her jeans in August 2016. There is no shame in gaining weight during pregnancy (or ever). There is no shame if it takes more than you think you will lose weight (if you want to lose it at all). There is no shame in finally breaking down and making Jean's own shorts because last summer they are just too short dang for this summer's thighs. Bodies change. Bodies grow. Bodies shrink. Everything is (don't let anyone tell you anything else). Baby Makes Four Entertainment Tonight reported that pictures of Hathaway and Shulman walking with Jonathan and holding a baby carrier were obtained by the Daily Mail, unofficially confirming that they are now a family of four. Star Modern Love received a baby shower in October including celebs, would be Jessica Chastain. Hathaway recently visited LIVE with Kelly and Ryan, revealing that she knew the sex of the baby, but wanted to keep it a secret, and admitting that she liked to play with people who asked about the baby's names. I'm trying to come up with names that sound nice, but that will make others feel extremely uncomfortable. It's very cruel, but I like it so much, she told the co-hosts with a chuckle. Everyone is so honest about it and happy for you and being nice to you and all these things, so I like to twist that. And then you correct them, and they never do. And you make a very intense and honest eye contact and you don't look the other way and you don't blink. And you have to watch them shake. Congrats to Hathaway and family! Gigi, in her 25s, revealed that she and Malik, in her 27 years, were expecting in April. Since then, she has provided fans with some images of her growing belly, although she has remained quiet about the pregnancy. During an Instagram Live video in July, when she first revealed that her child had been hit, she said there was a good reason for her choice. I think a lot of people are confused why they don't share more, she said. But I'm pregnant by a pandemic. Obviously, my pregnancy is not the most important thing that happens in the world. That's why I felt it wasn't really something I needed to share, apart from my family and friends. I took a lot of pictures of my cuckoo and sent it to friends and family, she continued. It was very cute and interesting, and I tried to document it well because I heard a lot of people say, obviously, make sure you don't miss it. Despite this, Hadid periodically showed off his growing belly, including a series of photos last month. growin an angel :) she subtitled one of the images of her knee. Drew Weisholtz Weisholtz
